Florida Summit on Preventing Needless Work Disability – June 1 & 2, 2008

Unique Event Brings Fresh Ideas to Stay-at-Work / Return-to-Work Process

Two hundred carefully selected Floridians will assemble in Orlando on June 1 and 2, 2008 to find better ways to help people who are coping with illness, injury or aging to stay at or return to work – and stay employed. A local grassroots organization is planning a stakeholder summit to protect the well-being of Florida's workforce by keeping people active, engaged, employable and contributing to society while also assuring that their employers are able to conduct business and be economically sustainable. The Florida Stay-at-Work Consortium is composed of volunteers who are healthcare providers, employers, insurers and others seeking to improve the service now delivered by disability benefits and workers' compensation systems.

Florida's event is affiliated with The 60 Summits Project (www.60summits.org), a national initiative to convene summit meetings in all 50 US states plus the 10 Canadian provinces. The 60 Summits Project promotes the adoption of a blueprint for improvement of the stay-at-work and return-to-work process that is laid out in a free 20-page whitepaper from the American College of Occupational & Environmental Medicine (ACOEM) (www.acoem.org). The whitepaper highlights the destructive impact of prolonged absence from work and job loss on peoples' lives and then calls on individuals in different sectors of society to find ways to work together to help people stay at work and employed. In Summit events, assembled stakeholders use the ACOEM whitepaper as a framework for discussion.

The Florida Summit on Preventing Needless Work Disability is scheduled to take place at the Rosen Hotel & Conference Centre in Orlando in the late afternoon of June 1 and all day June 2, 2008. Attendance is limited to roughly 200 participants whose work brings them in contact with the disability benefits and workers' compensation systems. Attendance is being structured to provide a proportionate number of the key stakeholders throughout the state of Florida. If you wish to learn more, request an invitation, or be involved as a sponsor of this unique and extremely important event please visit www.60summits.org/FL.

Purpose / Vision / Mission Statements

Purpose Statement / Vision Statement

We the members of the Florida Stay at Work Consortium have come together to focus our energies on creating an event in Florida that will encourage fresh thinking and establish an improved disability benefits and workers' compensation system. In doing so we will:

- Promote the adoption of a new paradigm for disability benefits and workers' compensation systems embodied in the American College of Occupational & Environmental Medicine (ACOEM) whitepaper entitled "Preventing Needless Work Disability by Helping People Stay Employed".
- Create a dynamic interdisciplinary group of volunteers committed to spreading this new work disability prevention paradigm throughout Florida.
- Plan and produce a Summit / Workshop for employers, healthcare providers, claims/benefit administrators and employees that forges an understanding and acceptance of ACOEM's recommendations as a tool for positive change in the Florida workplace.
- Encourage all stakeholders to identify ways they can put ACOEM's recommendations into everyday use.
- Share the outcomes of the initial Summit through a comprehensive ongoing awareness program that can lead to positive changes in organizations across the whole state.

Mission Statement

To promote the adoption of a new work disability prevention paradigm in Florida that will improve service and outcomes of the disability and workers' compensation systems by reducing needless work disability and focusing on helping people stay at work.
